

Indictments In Plot To Smuggle Arms To Ireland

TRENTON, N. J., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Colonel Marcellus H. Thompson, vice president, and active head of the Auto-Ordnance Company of New York, has been indicted by the federal grand jury here on a charge of conspiracy to ship arms to Ireland in violation of the neutrality laws. The announcement was made today by Assistant United States District Attorney Thomas Arrowsmith.

Indictments also have been returned against the Auto-Ordnance Company and seven other individuals on the same charge as the result of the seizure at Hoboken last June of the Cosmopolitan line freighter Eastside in the coal bunkers of which were found 495 machine guns. The guns were alleged to have been destined for use by the Sinn Fein in Ireland.

The other individuals indicted are: Frank Williams, alias Lawrence DeLacy, alias Lawrence Pierce, who is alleged to have paid for the shipment of guns, and his brother, Fred Williams, alias Edward DeLacy, who is alleged to have been implicated in the purchase of the guns. Both are now believed to be in Ireland.

George Gordon Horke, a salesman of Washington, who is alleged to have placed an order for the guns with the Auto-Ordnance Company. Frank J. Merkle, secretary of the Auto-Ordnance Company, Frank B. Ochsinger, of New York and Washington, who is accused of placing the first order for some of the guns with the Auto-Ordnance Company.

John Culhane, a truckman, of New York, who is alleged to have carted the guns from the American Railway Express Company, in New York, to his store house in the Bronx for Frank Williams.

A Mr. Murphy, whose first name is unknown to the federal authorities, who is alleged to have carted the shipment from Culhane's store house to the Eastside.

The guns were manufactured by the Colt Patent Arms Company, of Hartford, Connecticut, and are alleged to have been sold to the Auto-Ordnance Company. Their inventor is said to be General John P. Thompson, father of Colonel Thompson. The latter is a son-in-law of Colonel George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain. There was considerable mystery about the guns after their seizure and an investigation was started by the United States shipping board and the department of justice. Frank Williams claimed ownership of the guns after the seizure. He declared he had purchased a number of guns through the Auto-Ordnance Company and stored them in a warehouse. He said they had been stolen from the warehouse and asserted he did not know how they got on the ship.

The technical indictment against the men as a body charged them with "conspiracy to set on foot and provide the means for military enterprise to be carried on against the territory of a foreign prince with whom the United States was at peace."

Premier Lenine Better

MOSCOW, June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Lenine's condition is given in a bulletin signed by the German doctor, Felix Kemmer, and other physicians under date of June 16, as follows:

"The symptoms affecting the stomach and bowel tract which continued for ten days have for the present moment disappeared. All the inner organs are in complete order. Temperature and pulse are normal. The symptoms of disorder in the blood circulation have smoothed down. The patient has left his bed and feels well, but is impatient over the orders of the doctors who have prescribed inactivity."

Kills Son; Then Self

COVINGTON, KY., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—C. B. Brooks, 65 years old, a farmer, shot and killed his son, J. L. Brooks, 33, at their home on Hand pike, 8 miles from Covington, early today and then ended his own life. The father followed the son to the farm, where he shot the young man five times. He then went into a work shop and killed himself with a shot gun.

Dr. Davis Stephens, coroner of Kenton county, said he learned that the father had an ungovernable temper, and that the shooting was the result of frequent quarrels.

Governor Wouldn't Be Disturbed; So Boy Goes To Chair

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
DO murderers go to their death with a lie on their lips? Joseph Cohen, who saw 13 men pass through the little green door at Sing Sing several minutes before his turn, says: "No—unless they are trying to protect someone else." That's what led to the legal murder of Tommy Bambrick.

IN New York not many years ago Tommy Bambrick, a lad of 20, was found guilty of murder. According to Thomas Mott Osborne, who was warden at Sing Sing then, the boy was innocent of the crime. He knew the real murderer, but refused to "squeal."

While Tommy was in the death house, the warden got a tip from another prisoner as to the identity of the real culprit. He followed up the clue and discovered the man.

On an appeal for a new trial, the judge refused to hear Bambrick.

Self-Defense Claimed By Minister

CHARLES TOWN, W. VA., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Attorneys for the defense in the trial of Rev. J. E. Wilburn, Blair minister, being tried on a charge of killing a Logan county deputy sheriff last August during the miners' march, continued today their attempt to prove that the minister acted in self-defense.

It was their contention that fear on the part of residents of Blair that Logan county deputy sheriffs would invade the town caused Wilburn and a party of miners to take to the hills to protect the camps on the Logan-Boone border and that when they met a party of deputies they fought in self-defense. Three of the deputies were killed, including John Gore, with whose death Wilburn is charged. A number of witnesses for both sides arrived here yesterday and more were expected today.

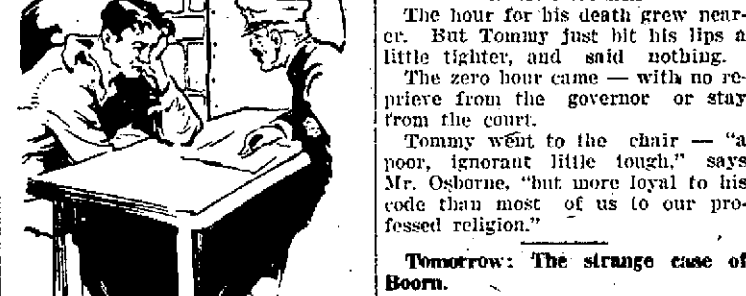

Five Injured By Enraged Patient

GALLIPOLIS, O., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Five persons, including patients and a physician at the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics, here, are suffering from stab wounds and bruises as the result of trying to subdue Robert Hull, aged 27, of Marietta, a patient at the institution, when he became temporarily crazed today and ran amuck.

Hull requested permission of Dr. Raville, institution physician, today to go home. He was told he would have to get the consent of his parents. This angered him and he struck Dr. Raville with his fist, knocking him down and beating and kicking him after he had flogged him. Institution officials said Hull then drew a pocket knife and inflicted minor stab wounds on Millard Miles, office employee, who had run to Dr. Raville's assistance. Paul Stevens, an employee, was stabbed in the upper left forearm and elbow when he joined the melee. Joseph Burden, a patient, had secured a ball bat and struck Hull across the neck, but the blow did not affect the enraged man, and he stabbed Burden in the left chest, below the heart. Kildy Roush, another patient, received stab wounds and his condition is serious.

Hull, according to officials, then ran into the office of Superintendent Kline and had armed himself with a paper knife and a pair of shears, when he was overpowered.

on the phone. But he would not be disturbed on the night before an execution. They tried to charter a special train to Albany—but it was too late. Doesn't Waken. The hour for his death grew nearer. But Tommy just hit his lips a little tighter, and said nothing. The zero hour came—with no reprieve from the governor or stay from the court.

Tommy went to the chair—"a poor, ignorant little tough," says Mr. Osborne, "but more loyal to his code than most of us to our professed religion."

Hughes And Groesbeck Are Honored

ANN ARBOR, MICH., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes and Governor Alex J. Groesbeck, of Michigan, were honored by the University of Michigan at its commencement exercises today, when they received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. An eminent British surgeon, Sir Thomas Leads, also received recognition, receiving the degree of Doctor of Science. Commencement exercises were featured by the address of Secretary Hughes, who arrived here Sunday. Mr. Hughes is the guest of Dr. Marion Butler, president of the University.

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., June 19.—From $6 a day in 1919, harvest wages have dropped a dollar a day each year until the present rate is $3, according to a report made public today at the office of Claude E. GOVERNOR SMALL TO OFFER NO EVIDENCE

WAUKEGAN, ILL., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Governor Len Small will offer no evidence in his behalf in his trial for conspiracy, C. C. LeForgee, a defense attorney, announced in court today, but will rest on the evidence of the prosecution. The state completed its case against Governor Small at 11:35 o'clock today.

James H. Wilkerson, assistant attorney general, then asked for a short recess.

The trial started nine weeks ago. The announcement came as a complete surprise. It had been expected that the defense would require two or three weeks.

France To Take Part In Parley With Russians

PARIS, June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—France will take part in the conference at The Hague with the Russian delegates beginning June 26, it was officially announced at the foreign office this morning. If political questions are introduced, however, the French delegates will promptly withdraw.

The French delegates received strict instructions to adhere to the French policy as outlined at Genoa and to leave the conference at once upon the entrance of political questions.

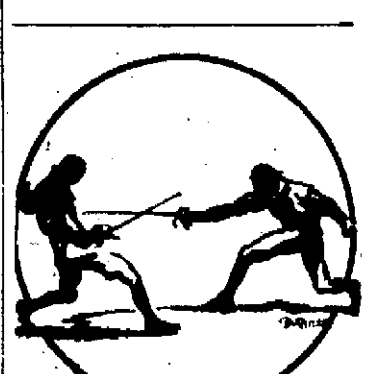

They will stick closely, it is stated, to the French contention that the soviet authorities must recognize the principle of respecting foreign owned private property and the payment of foreign debts.

Wu Controls Situation In China

PEKING, June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The grasp of Wu Peifu on the disturbed situation in China apparently was stronger today than at any time since his defeat of Chang Tso-Lin at the gates of Peking first brought him into prominence as a prospective "strong man of China."

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, principal opponent of the Peking government, in whose behalf Wu has been exercising his admitted military genius, has fled from Canton, where the southern Chinese government he headed, is overthrown and Chen Chung-Ming, who is favorable to Wu, is in control.

Minnesota Holds Primary; Woman In Senate Race

ST. PAUL, MINN., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Minnesota voters went to the polls today to nominate party candidates for the United States senate, congress and state offices in a primary election that will determine to a large extent the effectiveness of the new party convention law.

More than the usual interest attaches to the senatorial race, for a woman—Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen, of Cloquet—is contesting with two men for the Democratic nomination, and Senator Frank B. Kellogg, an avowed supporter of the national administration, has two opponents.

Hot Congressional Battle
Voting with the Democratic senatorial contest for first attention is the Republican congressional fight in the third district, where Representative Charles P. Davis, a member of the national house since 1903, has active opposition in Reuben Thoren, of Sallwater, who has the endorsement of the district convention.

Senator Kellogg, all present congressmen except Mr. Davis, and all state officers, with the exception of the clerk of the supreme court, have the endorsement of Republican state or district conventions, and by the treatment accorded their opponents today political leaders will measure the effectiveness of the convention law passed by the 1921 legislature.

Under this law, a delegate to the county convention of each party is opposed in each election precinct and the county conventions in turn elect delegates to district and state conventions, which endorsed one candidate.

Knights Of St. John Open Their Convention

CLEVELAND, O., June 19.—The thirty-fourth international and eighth biennial convention of the Knights of St. John was formally opened here today with delegates from more than three hundred commanderies in the country in attendance.

The knights and members of the ladies' auxiliary attended solemn high mass this morning, after which they heard addresses of welcome and responses. They then went into separate business sessions.

A military parade was on this afternoon's program.

The convention closes Thursday.

Hayes Centennial Anniversary Planned

GAMBIER, O., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Announcement that a formal celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of Rutherford B. Hayes, a graduate of Kenyon College, will be held at Fremont, was made at commencement exercises of the institution today. The affair will be held October 4, the centenary of the former president. President Harding will attend and deliver an address. Dr. W. F. Pierce, president of Kenyon, also will speak.

An honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Charles Richard Williams of Princeton, N. J., the biographer of Mr. Hayes, at the exercises.

Present also at the commencement today was Webb C. Hayes, son of Rutherford B. Hayes.

WHOLESALE PRICES HIGHER
WASHINGTON—Wholesale prices in all groups of commodities excepting chemicals and drugs averaged 3.12 per cent higher during May than April, according to figures made public by the bureau of labor statistics.

CHICAGO, June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Railroad chiefs were marking time today while employees of the roads were marking strike ballots.

By July 1, the date $136,000,000 in wage cuts ordered by the United States railroad labor board become effective, the strike referendum will be completed and the nation will probably know whether it faces an actual rail strike and a threatened transportation war.

Developments of the last 24 hours included: A statement by Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the labor board, predicting an adjustment of the railroad situation without a strike and peace on the roads by next fall.

Statements to the board by leaders of the rail unions condemning the wage reductions and serving notice that a strike, if favored in the referendum, will be sanctioned by the union chiefs.

Word from Washington that President Harding intends to back the board which has no power itself under the transportation act to enforce its decisions.

Gradual abandonment by the carriers of their system of putting work out at contract, a system which has been one of the barriers to peace, was predicted by Mr. Hooper. Following the lead of the Southern Pacific, other roads are expected to speedily do away with labor contracts, the board chairman said.

Referring to charges by a leading railroad periodical that the board was completely dominated by the wishes of labor organizations and to more recent accusations by the unions that the wage reductions were a "miscarriage of justice," Mr. Hooper asserted that a "discriminating public will find the truth at a point about half way between these two extremes."

If the unions and the railroads respect the decisions of the board, a fair minded public will stand for nothing else, he declared.

The strike referendum is expected to be completed by next Sunday, five days in advance of the wage reductions.

Tariff Bill Before Bonus Republicans Decide

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Senate Republicans in conference today voted 36 to 9 against laying aside the tariff bill to consider the "soldiers' bonus."

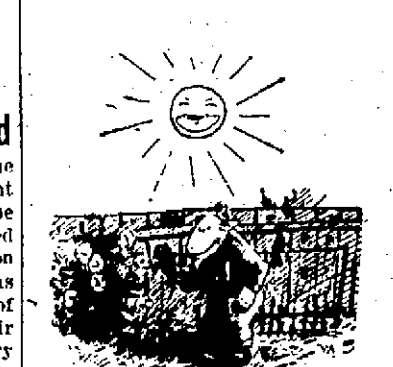

A resolution favoring final disposition of both the tariff bill and the bonus measure at this session and before any recess then was adopted 27 to 11. The bonus measure would be made the unfinished business after a final vote on the tariff.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, after learning of the action of the Republican conference, said a move to bring up the bonus would be made in the senate after the passage of the pending naval appropriations bill.

Republican leaders thought the movement promised by Senator Walsh would fail. They counted upon Democratic opponents of the bonus to join with most of the Republicans in voting against immediate consideration of that measure. A motion to bring up the bill was expected, however, to lead to another and perhaps prolonged discussion of the bonus on the senate floor.

Indictment

NEW YORK, June 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Lieutenant Colonel Marcellus H. Thompson, son of the inventor of the Thompson gun, and son-in-law of Ambassador George Harvey—charged in a federal indictment at Trenton today with conspiracy to ship arms to Ireland in violation of the neutrality laws, is a West Point graduate with a seven-year army record, including active service in the American expeditionary forces from August, 1917, until after the close of the war.

In the A. E. F., Colonel Thompson was with the first coast artillery in charge of heavy guns behind the lines. He resigned from the military service in December, 1919, and later became the head of the Auto-Ordinance Company of New York.

Recently Colonel Thompson expressed unwillingness to discuss the incident of the finding of 495 machine guns aboard the steamer Eastside, a year ago, except to say: "We do not know how the guns got aboard the ship."

"Of course," he added, "we would not think of selling guns to persons we might even suspect of reselling them to enemies of constituted governments."

NEWARK, N. J., June 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Colonel Marcellus H. Thompson, indicted on a charge of conspiracy to ship arms to Ireland in violation of the neutrality law, today pleaded not guilty before Federal Judge Reelstab. A plea of not guilty to a similar indictment was made on behalf of the Auto-Ordinance Company as a corporation, George Gordon Rorke, a salesman of Washington, and Frank B. Ochsenrider, of New York and Washington, accused in indictments of having placed the orders for the guns, also pleaded not guilty.

Union Chiefs

CLEVELAND, O., June 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Railroad brother executives today received telegrams from E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers and executive secretary, rail-miners' alliance, asking them to attend the conference in Cincinnati tomorrow between the railway men and the coal miners' delegates.

W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineermen, replied that because of pressing business he could not attend tomorrow's conference.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, was in Chicago today. He was expected to leave there tonight for Cleveland.

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said it would be impossible for him to attend the conference because of important previous engagements.

Situation Hopeful, Says Hooper

CHICAGO, June 19.—The railroad situation today is hopeful and by fall many of the present difficulties will be smoothed out, Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the U. S. Railroad Labor Board, said in a statement today, reviewing the problems before the board. Neither rates nor wages are permanent, he said, because the conditions on which they are based are not permanent.

He expressed the belief that the railroads of the country will voluntarily discontinue contracting out work in a short time, regardless of their opinions as to its legality, and said that this will go a long way toward restoration of cordial relations between the carriers and their employees.

DETERMINED TO GO ON

CINCINNATI, O., June 19.—Formal notice was served today on the Railroad Labor Board by the chiefs of the railroad unions, of their intention to go through with a strike in event one is authorized by the 1,225,000 workers whose wages are to be reduced on July 1 under orders of the board.

Coupled apparently with the rail union leaders was a statement that the "railroad workers have no alternative except fight," made by John L. Lewis, leader of the striking coal miners, who will meet with the rail union leaders Tuesday to consider joint strike action. He also pledged the miners and to the rail men but declined to state definitely what aid might result from joint action.

Marshall Surrenders To Police

CINCINNATI, June 19.—Albert H. Marshall, who seized his wife, Clara Marshall, on the golf links of an exclusive club here and carried her into Indiana in an automobile last Friday, surrendered to the police today. He is charged with kidnapping by the father of his wife, from whom he is separated and who is suing for divorce. Marshall said that he carried his wife away so that he could make an effort to reach reconciliation.

Cardinals Lose To Williamson

When the Cardinals journeyed to Williamson Sunday they did not expect to face Johnny Stuart of Ohio State University and Huntington and the result was a 9 to 1 defeat for the Cardinals. The locals could not solve the delivery of the college ball. Donchus of the N. & W. mine, twirled for the Cardinals, while McDaniels was behind the plate.

POLICE BUSY OVER THE WEEK END

For driving a motorcycle while intoxicated, John Johnson, of Market street, was fined $25 and costs and sent to jail for ten days under his plea of guilty. In Municipal court Monday and Judge McCull also suspended his right to drive for sixty days. Johnson was arrested by the police Sunday after he drove his machine into a motorcycle on Gullis street, injuring a young man named Tyler. The latter sustained a broken nose and a bruised shoulder and arm.

Walter Iwom denied driving recklessly on Scioto Trail and the hearing was continued until Tuesday to give both sides an opportunity to bring witnesses into court. The complaint was filed by F. A. Handley.

Ralph J. Smith arrested on complaint of his wife, Mrs. Eric Smith for nonsupport of their three minor children, admitted guilt and after hearing their stories Judge McCull continued the case to give the defendant an opportunity to make arrangements to make weekly payments. The hearing disclosed that the couple have been separated since March by agreement under which Smith was to pay $13 a week but is now in arrears to the extent of about $75, it was claimed. The wife lives in Ironton.

John Davis pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct in connection with a row on Waller street with his wife and he was fined $11.20 and warned to avoid further trouble.

Russell Robinson, brickworkers, tanked up on "moon" late Sunday night and then went on the warpath at his home in the North End, making a gun play and threatening to shoot his brother, "Tank" Robinson, after accusing the latter of tipping him off to the police and causing his arrest a few days ago on a statutory charge with a woman. The police responded to a call and took Robinson in tow last night and in Municipal court today Judge McCull passed him a fine of $100 on pointing firearms charge and $11.20 for intoxication. He was given a chance to pay up on his promise to stop drinking and go back to work.

Albert Hike was in court to meet a disorderly conduct charge which grew out of some trouble with Ed Bolin at Ninth and Chillicothe streets Sunday night. Bolin failed to appear for trial and the cases will be heard Tuesday.

Charles Conrad, Leo Miner, Bert Tomlin, Alex Boyce and J. O'Bryan, plain drunk, drew the usual $11.20 and William Drake, colored, was handed $10 and costs for intoxication and creating a disturbance at the Penman restaurant on Eleventh street.

Anti-Saloon Speakers Here Sunday

Sunday was the annual Anti-Saloon League Day in local churches, and the League had several speakers here to tell of their past work and plans for the future. The speakers gave a general review of the prohibition fight and in speaking of the future stressed the importance of every one who is in sympathy with the cause to get busy and see that the efforts of the wet in bringing back 2.75 beer and light wines are thwarted in addition to seeing that a dry congress is elected. They also touched on the matter of liquors being sold on United States vessels on the high seas and said that the prohibition forces would fight the sale. The annual collection was made for the League.

Among the speakers here were James A. White, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League; T. B. Jarvis, Columbus attorney; Assistant Superintendent Sanford, of the League; Charles M. Earhart, of Columbus, and Rev. Edgar McDill, of Cincinnati.

PLOT TO UNDERMINE CHICAGO POLICE DEPARTMENT

CHICAGO, June 19.—A criminal plot to undermine the police department by putting crooks on the force was carried in the flood of applications for 1,000 new police jobs recently authorized by the city council, according to Charles Fitzmorris, general superintendent of police.

Investigation of applicants has led to the solution of robberies amounting to $50,000, the chief said today.

One man who had received his star was arrested while attending a police school of instruction and confessed to the recent $12,000 robbery of a dairy company, according to the chief.

Favor The 44-Hour Week For Printers

CINCINNATI, June 19.—The A. F. of L. convention adopted a resolution favoring the forty-four hour work week throughout the printing industry. The resolution pledged the federation's "moral and all other helpful support" to the International Typographical Union in the fight for the 44-hour week and asked that all trades unions and their members "in purchase only such printed matter produced under union conditions and by employers who honor their word and observe agreements that they have entered into for the 44-hour week."

Further the resolution directed the executive council of the federation on request of the Printers' Union to aid in every possible and practical manner in bringing establishment of the 44-hour week.

The "invasion" of Newport was set for Wednesday night announcement was made that President Compers would address a mass meeting there.

Insurance companies were attacked by Thomas Duffy, chairman of the Ohio industrial commission, in an address on the Ohio workmen's compensation law. Asserting that the companies fought the law because the state was permitted to carry the insurance of employers, Mr. Duffy declared that the companies sought to employ state officers at high salaries. He said that he rejected a salary of $25,000 a year because he would not sell the "principles of the labor movement." Ohio employees generally, he said, favored the law on account of the state charging lower insurance rates.

STRONG-HEART

a splendid man among a strange men. A figure of power in this great love drama of the wilds.

JOHN BOWERS

It's—One—Terrific—Drama

Strongheart, the wolf-dog, isn't a mere actor, but a killer, as primitive as any lean pack-leader that ever prowled the wilds, when he leaps to the call of the girl!

Through the drama of human and the drama of wild beasts surges a tide of emotion, thrill and amazement such as few other pictures can give.

Wakefield Youth Stabbed By Playmate

Charles Cockrell, aged 14, son of W. H. Cockrell, who operates a grocery in Wakefield, was stabbed in the back Sunday night by Emmett Cutlip, 11-year-old son of Postmaster Charles Cutlip of Wakefield. A pocket-knife was used by Cutlip, and Cockrell suffered a rather serious wound. He was brought to this city Monday and the wound was dressed by Dr. H. H. Morgan, who says the victim will recover, barring complications.

According to word from Wakefield, the Cockrell boy met the Cutlip lad on the road near that village and began taunting him. Cutlip then pulled out his knife and stabbed Cockrell, who fell to the ground. He was later picked up and removed to his home. It was stated at Wakefield today that no charge had been preferred against the youthful knife-user. The Cockrell and Cutlip families are neighbors in Wakefield, and the principals in the cutting affray are companions.

Proposals For Printing Ballots
Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Deputy State Supervisors of Elections of Scioto County, Ohio, until 12 o'clock, M., Thursday, June 29, 1922, for furnishing the necessary paper, and for the printing, numbering, perforating and binding of, fifteen thousand ballots, more or less, containing State, District and County tickets, for use at the Primary Election to be held in said county on the 8th day of August, 1922.

In order to receive any consideration by said Board each bid must be accompanied by a bond with at least two sureties, to the satisfaction of said Board, in a sum double the amount of the bid conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract as may be awarded.

Sample copies of ballots will be furnished by the clerk of said Board. All bids must be plainly marked on the outside of the envelope containing the same "Bids for printing Primary Ballots," and addressed to the clerk of said Board.

None but the lowest responsible bid will be accepted, and the Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Urge Safe And Sane Fourth Of July

"Again Fourth of July is approaching," says State Fire Marshal H. A. Dykeman. "It is a day that firemen dread more than any other period of the year. Whether, July 4, 1922, is to be a day of sorrow, or one of joy, depends entirely upon the proper handling of all kinds of fireworks.

"Each municipality has, or should have, proper regulatory ordinances governing the sale of and the time and place for exploding fireworks. Some towns forbid the sale or firing of the heavier kinds altogether.

"Each father, mother or guardian should see that his children and wards do not run into danger, and that even with the simplest form of fireworks there is always the double danger of death and loss of valuable property.

"The question, 'What are the dangerous forms of fireworks?' is answered by saying: 'Anything that will produce a spark can be dangerous if improperly handled.' Even the so-called 'harmless' sparkler is responsible for deaths and fires.

"Last year on July 4, in Ohio, a pistol cartridge struck with a carpenter's hammer, killed a man. Last year, a four-year-old girl died a horrible death from lockjaw caused by wadding from a toy pistol, and yet for years the Ohio statutes have declared against the sale of the blank cartridge pistol to minors.

"Of the 32 persons injured by fireworks in Ohio last Fourth, 15 were children; and of the accidents, the common fire cracker accounted for 12 casualties of all ages. Roman candles hurt 4; skyrockets, 3; gunpowder and bullets, 4; toy cannon, 3; red fire, 1; bombs, 1; toy pistol, 2; carbide guns, 1; 'mines' and sparklers, 1.

"There were, last Fourth, 29 fires due to fireworks. Of these, one was caused by a toy balloon; 8 by skyrockets; 2 by Roman candles; 15 by firecrackers; 1 by a cigar being thrown into a fireworks stand; 1 from a display of fireworks, and one from a match slipped into a fireworks pile by a careless smoker.

"In 1920 one person was killed and 23 were hurt on July 4 by fireworks in Ohio. Of the 23 injured, 22 were children.

"In the United States from 1908 to 1918, 1914 people died and 42,285 were crippled by fireworks. When the Safe and Sane celebration idea finally took root, the tragedies dropped to almost zero.

"Which do you prefer, a happy but tired child safely asleep in his trundle bed, or a gruesome, blackened corpse on the cold marble slab in a morgue?"

"Choose the Safe and Sane!"

Prisoner Breaks Jail At Waverly

Roy McCormick, who was arrested at Gregg's Hills, near Waverly, several days ago on a charge of stealing cigarettes from a freight car, broke out of the Waverly jail Sunday afternoon. Officials there have so far failed to find any trace of him.

McCormick used some wire from a waste basket to make a hook, and after he did this he used it to get the key to the jail door. It was hanging on a hook just above the jail door. After the prisoner secured the key he simply reached through his cell, turned the lock, calmly walked out and again was a free man.

McCormick, who is well known in and around Waverly, was arrested by N. & W. Detective Andy Leslie of this city.

Endorsement After Names
Names of all convention-endorsed candidates appeared on the ballot today with the endorsement fact printed after their names. Earnest Lundon, of Minneapolis, former congressman, and Richard Titus, Minneapolis, are opposing Senator Kellogg. Lundon has made an active campaign, while Mr. Kellogg has remained in Washington and publicly has taken no part in the campaign.

Indorsed by the Democratic state convention almost in the closing hours after efforts to find a satisfactory male candidate had failed, Mrs. Otlesen has set the pace throughout the campaign by making a statewide tour in an automobile driven by herself. Her opponents are Thomas J. Meighen and Homer Morris.

Mrs. Lillian Cox Gault, mayor of St. Peter, has no opposition for the Democratic congressional nomination in the third district. Margaret M. Kellar, for the Republican secretary of state nomination in opposition to Mike Holm, incumbent, and Husie W. Stangeberg, for the same office, and Eliza Evans Denning, for auditor, the last two named on the former-labor ticket, are other women in the election.

Contest On Election Of Officers

CINCINNATI, O., June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Prospects of a second contest in the election of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor at its convention here loomed up today as a movement got under way for William Clarke, of Toledo, president of the American Min. Glass Workers' Union, to contest the re-election of Frank Morrison, as secretary. No formal announcement of candidacy was made by Mr. Clarke, but he indicated a willingness to enter the race by saying, "I am in the hands of my friends."

Likewise no claims were advanced of pledge votes, for Mr. Clarke, which was regarded as indicating the boom was in its early stage. The other contest for the council is promised by Joseph A. Franklin, of Kansas City, president of the holtermakers' union, who has announced he will contest the re-election of Daniel J. Tobin, of Indianapolis, head of the teamsters' union, as treasurer.

Election of the council probably will be Friday.

No contest for nine places on the council, which is headed by President Samuel Gompers, was in sight today.

Mr. Morrison has been secretary for 25 years.

The convention went into its second week today with the most of its most important business awaiting floor consideration.

Half a score of lawyers from all parts of the country gathered here today to guide the federation's special policy committee in framing a program for combatting the supreme court's decision in the Corrado case, which held labor unions subject to damages under the Sherman anti-trust law.

To The Voters Of Scioto County

THOS. A. JENKINS

Republican Candidate For Nomination Of State Senator

Formerly Lawrence, Vinton, Gallia and Meigs Counties comprised the Eighth Senatorial District. Scioto, Adams, Pike and Jackson Counties comprised the Seventh Senatorial District. All these counties are now thrown into one District.

This will restore the political relationship which formerly existed between Scioto and Lawrence Counties. This restoration is welcomed by the voters of both Counties. Since Scioto County has no candidate for State Senator we present the name of Thomas A. Jenkins of Ironton, Ohio. Mr. Jenkins is eminently qualified for the place. A wide experience in the various walks of life together with a comprehensive education has made him qualified to deal with all public questions such as Taxation, Schools and Roads. His standing with his profession and with the people of his community has always been such that in his former political contests he has always led his ticket.

You are cordially solicited to vote for Thomas A. Jenkins.

WADE RISNER DIES FROM INJURIES SUFFERED IN AUTO CRASH

His Car Ran Into Big Truck Near Bannan Place On Trail; Dies On Way To A Hospital

Wade Risner, about 25 years old, married, was almost instantly killed about midnight Sunday when his Ford touring car crashed into the rear end of a big moving truck from Huntington, the accident occurring at the Bannan farm south of Lucasville.

Risner died a short time later in Lynn's ambulance on his way to Schirman hospital.

There was no mark or cut on his body to indicate where the crash, death and the ambulance to take him to the hospital, this accident to determine the cause, Coroner J. H. Hendrickson and Dr. H. A. Schirman held the post mortem and found that death was due to a ruptured blood vessel of the liver.

Risner who had spent about fifteen years of his life on farms near Lucasville had been working at the Solway coke plant at New Boston for about a month. He made his home in Lakeside with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyons. He owned a Ford touring car and spent yesterday at the home of his brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Phillips of Big Run which is on the West Side near the Bradshaw farm about five miles south of Lucasville.

His brother-in-law Richard Lyons spent the day with him but he returned home in the afternoon. Risner left for Portsmouth late Sunday night expecting to go to work this morning at the Solway plant.

Parked For Night
The big moving truck owned in Huntington, had been on the road all day and the drivers stopped their machine about 20 yards from the driveway to the Bannan farm, and parked their machine for the night. They had pulled to one side of the road and in addition to the tail light put a lantern on the rear of the truck.

Although Risner was able to be up and about his machine for several minutes he was not able to tell how the accident happened although his machine was jammed into the rear of the big truck.

Frank Stanton and Earl Smith who were on their way home from Chillicothe were flagged by Risner, who walked over to the local men and said he was hurt and wanted to go to a hospital. According to the local men their first thought he was intoxicated and did not know what he was doing but when they examined the wrecked machine and noticed Risner bleeding at the mouth they went to the Bannan Farm and called Lynn's ambulance. A spare tire and machine tools were scattered about the badly damaged machine and it is thought that Risner not realizing the seriousness of the accident started to make repairs to his machine. The two drivers of the truck were sound sleepers for the impact of the Ford hitting the truck did not awaken them and Stanton and Smith had some trouble in awakening the men who said they had been on the road several days and were dead-tired.

Recognized Risner
A short time after Stanton and Smith halted at the scene of the accident Birch Massie of near Big Run happened along in a Ford touring car with two passengers John Collis and Frank Purdy who were returning to the city after spending the week end at Lucasville. Massie recognized Risner and talked to him. Risner told Massie to notify his sister of the accident if he died. He also told Massie to rub his legs for they were paining him.

While Massie and his friends took care of Risner, Stanton and Smith came on to Portsmouth. Lynn's ambulance arrived while Massie was busy with Risner. Risner must have been in agony for he struggled with the several men who put him on the ambulance cot. It took several men to hold him until he was placed in the ambulance.

Died on the Way
On arrival at Schirman hospital Risner was found to be dead. An examination showed no serious injury and at that time the exact cause of death could not be determined.

According to local men, Massie and others who stopped at the scene of the accident three small bottles of moonshine were found in the wrecked Ford. Men who attended Risner said he was well under the influence of moonshine. The front end of the young man's machine was badly wrecked, the radiator being mashed, windshield broken, fenders bent and engine damaged.

Risner was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Filmore Risner of Kentucky. The parents have been dead for sometime and until he came to New Boston to work at the Solway coke plant Wade Risner made his home with the Phillips family. He was well known in and about Lucasville.

Surviving are four sisters Mrs. J. W. Phillips of Big Run, Mrs. Richard Lyons of Lakeside, New Boston, Mrs. Julia France of Kentucky and Miss Nelia Risner of Big Run and a brother, Donnie Risner who also lives with the Lyons family at Lakeside, New Boston.

The body was prepared for burial by Undertaker Smalley at the Lynn morgue and was then taken in charge by Undertaker Reeg of Lucasville.

CARS COLLIDE ON TRAIL

The coupe of Frank A. Handley, of 1702 Twelfth street was badly damaged last night about nine o'clock, just this side of George P. O., when a machine driven by an unidentified driver crashed into it. Mr. and Mrs. Handley and son Claude Eugene, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond, were out motoring and were returning home when the accident occurred. The coupe had both front wheels and fenders mashed and the radiator caved in, but the windshield and body glass of the car were not broken. After crashing into the Handley car the driver of the other machine pulled out without disclosing his identity. Mr. Handley stated this morning that he had information as to who the driver of the coupe was and that he was going to swear out a warrant for his arrest. He also stated that he was traveling about ten miles per hour and that the other machine was traveling about twenty-five miles per hour. None of the occupants of the Handley car was injured.

Peebles Tigers Win Sunday

Following the defeat of the Murels of Portsmouth, 11 to 0, the Peebles Tigers handed it to the South Webster Club to the tune of 3 to 0. John Riffle was on the mound for the Peebles team allowing the visitors only two hits. "Jawn" has made the following record this year: Pitched nine entire games, a total of 87 innings, 315 men have faced him, 141 struck out, 30 have hit, 12 walks and 25 scored. Next Sunday Peebles will cross bats with the fast Otway Black Sox on the Peebles diamond. Otway was defeated three times last year by Peebles. No doubt they will come loaded for bear this time. Adequate arrangements will be made for taking care of Doc Gordon and Jim Walsh in the event Otway loses Sunday.

$5,000 Fire Near Fullerton Fiddler's Contest To Feature Grange Picnic On July Fourth

A blaze which originated from a defective kitchen flue entirely destroyed the large farm home of Mort Warnock, situated at Sunshine, just over the Morton Hill, a mile from Fullerton, shortly after seven o'clock Monday morning. The flames also communicated to the smokehouse and it burned together with the contents consisting principally of smoked meat and canned fruit.

Mayor Newberry Kept Busy

Mayor William E. Newberry's court at New Boston was a busy place Monday when prisoners taken into custody over the week-end were given hearings and fined.

Charles Fife and C. E. Master, caught for speeding in their automobiles, were fined $10 and costs each.

Thomas McNamara, drunk and disorderly, was soaked $10 on each charge.

Freel Wilson and Zeka Moore, plain drunks, drew fines of $10 and costs.

Winfield Floyd was fined $5 on a disorderly conduct charge.

G. D. Adams, drunk, was assessed $10 and costs.

Emerson Doyle, who was caught driving his machine without proper lights, was fined $5.

Sam Caldwell was the name given to a man arrested for possessing moonshine. He was fined $100 and costs.

To Get Proceeds

"Dad" Carpenter, check man at the Washington hotel, is to be the recipient of the proceeds from the sale of a beautiful hand-worked table cover now on display at the cigar counter in the hotel.

Leave Hospital

Miss Helen Ribble of 1112 Clay street has returned to her home from Hempstead hospital, where she recently underwent an operation.

Fiddler's Contest To Feature Grange Picnic On July Fourth

A fiddler's contest is to be one of the big features of the Scioto County Farm Bureau and Grange picnic to be held at the Lucasville Fair grounds on July 4th. The committee in charge of the plans for the outing will meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the Farm Bureau office to complete all details for the picnic. Charles Franck of this city is chairman of the committee.

Two speakers have already been secured for the outing. Harry A. Caton, Master of the State Grange, and F. L. Schoenberger, director of the organization department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, will be the speakers. Mr. Schoenberger will be remembered as the man who was here recently when the Farm Bureau was reorganized.

Plenty of music is assured for the outing. There will be brass bands from Sedan, Ohio Valley Grange on the West Side and Minford community. In addition to the fiddlers' contest, there will be horseshoe pitching, baseball, nail-driving contests and a chicken driving contest.

Farmers and their families from all over the county are expected to gather at the Fair grounds for the big outing.

Blair Joins Billy Ryan

Nig Blair packed his grip Monday and left for Cincinnati, where he will enter Billy Ryan's pugilistic stable. He is going to get down to real business and no doubt will be in great trim when he meets Pete Sullivan in Chillicothe on June 29. Ryan is going to Texas and he will take Blair with him and match him with the best boys in the South.

Are Having Delightful Trip

Writing under the date of June 12, H. Glen Duis and Attorney Sherman M. Johnson give glowing accounts of the wonderful time they have enjoyed in attendance of the forty-eighth annual session Imperial Council A. O. N. Mystic Shrine at San Francisco. They state the people of the Golden State are among the most hospitable folks on earth and that the 5,000 strangers are being shown every consideration. They state the city is wonderfully decorated and that there are so many different things to "take in" that it is difficult to decide what to do.

Messrs. Duis and Johnson made the trip to San Francisco was made on a special train, containing more than 180 shrimpers and was a most delightful affair. They were booked to leave last Thursday, coming home by the way of Portland, Seattle and Vancouver, traveling on the Canadian Pacific. They will not reach Portsmouth until the latter part of June.

Visited Relatives

Raymond Mittendorf, in charge of the Atlantic-Pacific store on Chillicothe street, drove to his home at South Webster yesterday and spent the day with relatives.

Produce More Milk at Lower Cost

That's the way to make a profit nowadays. Horace M. Jones, extension dairy specialist of the South Dakota College of Agriculture at Brookings, says:

"The ultimate aim of dairy farming is to produce a profit from milking cows. Profit comes in reducing the cost of production to the very lowest possible point. This can be accomplished, not by reducing the amount of feed given a cow, but by administering feeds in such proportions and in such quantity as will cause the cow to reach her maximum production."

Cows on pasture need some concentrate because grass lacks the proper milk-making elements. Purina Cow Chow supplies what grass lacks. Cow Chow cuts the cost per gallon of producing milk—gets more milk from fewer cows. Cow Chow will put the proof of more summer milk profits right in the milk pail.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I'm writing you my first time for advice. I am 28 and have a little boy 3. My husband is a drunkard. He is drunk half the time. When drunk he is mean to me and baby. He has threatened my life different times and threatened running me off and I'm good to him. I never give him a cross word. No matter what he does or says. I stay home and work and try to save everything I can. I have tried everything I know to get him to quit drinking. He is advice me what to do. So please advise me what to do.

WORRIED WIFE.

First of all, I would cut off his supply of liquor. Find out where he gets it, and how he gets it, then see that he doesn't get any more. Notify all the officials in the county or state where the supply is coming from and serve warning that they had better get busy and do something or you will do the "Carrie Nation" stunt yourself. After you have done this, get your husband by the ear and sit him down in the corner and lay the law down to him. Since coining and being good to him have failed to move him, you will have to take action, and let him know you are boss and you just dare him to get drunk again. Of course you should do this when he is sober and in a good humor so he won't start anything. One at a time is enough to go on the war path. He has been that way so many times it is your turn now.

Dear Dolly—I am writing to you for a little advice. I have a lavender organdie dress which is very dirty around the neck. Do you think gasoline would take the color out or not, or would soap flakes or ivory soap be best? Which would you suggest?

BLUE EYES.

If it is a good grade of organdie, nothing will take the color out. Soap flakes will all right. If the collar is detachable you could take it off and wash it separate. If not, I think you can manage to wash it without soiling the rest of the dress.

Dear Dolly—I am going with a boy now who is 23 years old, and I am 17 years. And I like him, and can you tell me if he likes me or not? He said that he loved me among them all.

FLOESIE.

I suppose he likes you in a way, but you must not take him for any other boy seriously until you are old enough to know the meaning of the word love. Most boys use "love" as a by-word, with no meaning what ever attached to it. They talk about it to every girl they meet, but the "wise" ones let their chatter in one ear and out the other.

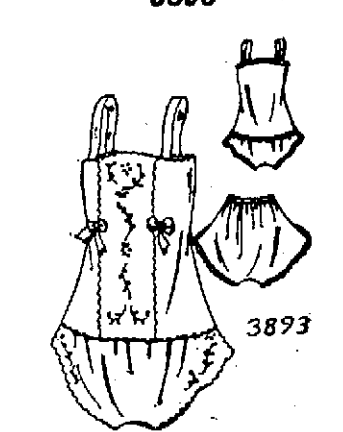

Dear Dolly—Will you please tell me a good way to fix castor oil so my children will take it without raising the roof off the house. I almost have to call out the fire department or the police force to get my little son to take a dose of oil.

MRS. X. Y. Z.

I don't blame him; it makes me sick to think about it. However, they do say that if you boil the oil with an equal quantity of milk, sweetened with a little sugar it can be made palatable. Stir it well and let it cool. Another good way is to beat the castor oil with the white of an egg until both are thoroughly mixed. In either case the oil cannot be distinguished. Still another way is to make an orange sandwich of it.

Put the orange juice in a glass, then the oil, and then some more juice. Half the fuss about taking castor oil could be avoided if you did not tell your child you were going to give him the oil. Just fix it and give it to him. Make it a rule never to mention the "stuff" before or after taking. Just eliminate the word from your vocabulary altogether. The thoughts of it is worse than the taste anyway, I think.

VIOLET EYES.—You will not be compelled to go to school next year, but I would advise you to go, if possible. Your letter to me showed lack of education.

Dear Dolly—I have been going with a boy eleven months. He says he loves me, but I don't care anything for him. I like him better than any other boy I have ever gone with and in time I may learn to love him. He is very good looking and good to me. I don't know what to do about him. Could you advise me? I have had the "blues" all spring. Do you know what is good for them? I have light brown hair, blue eyes and am tall and slim.

PERPLEXED GIRL.

If you want some one to be around, and you have no one else in view. I think you might as well keep on going with the boy. You can be friends without being lovers, can't you? You can tell the boy at every opportunity that you have no intention of getting married and do not care particularly for any boy. In this way you will not be fooling him. He will know just where you stand and can govern himself accordingly. I don't believe in a girl going with a man she doesn't care for, if he thinks she is in love with him. I don't know how to get rid of the blues, because I have never had anything like that. I would not let myself get that way. If you will keep busy and happy, and practice the Golden Rule, you won't have any occasion to get the blues.

YOUR CLOTHES WILL WEAR LONGER AND LOOK BETTER IF YOU USE FRICK'S LAUNDRY BLUE. NO ACIDS OR CHEMICALS.—Advertisement.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

The American bride-to-be looks up her future husband's rating in Bradstreet's, but in some parts of Russia the bride depends on magic.

On the wedding night she's required to pull off her husband's boots.

One will contain a whip, the other a purse. If she first removes the one with the purse—that is a good omen, significant that her husband will have plenty of money and be kind and generous. If she draws the whip first it may be regarded as a specimen of what she will receive.

The following from a recent issue of the Orlando, Florida, paper is of local interest as Mrs. Wamser (Alma Garvin) is a former resident of this city:

Mrs. William Wamser entertained at her home "Deerless Grove," on Conway Drive, Wednesday afternoon, from three until five, with a farewell party for two of her neighbors, Mrs. D. Wilson of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. C. H. Worden of Buffalo, N. Y., who will leave this month for the North. The house was beautifully decorated with pond lilies and hibiscus, the Florida state flower. Pine needle work and music was thoroughly enjoyed by the guests, especially the fine piano selections played by Miss Mary Julia Reid and Miss Dixie Pharr, a student of the G. U. I. college of Georgia. Mrs. Wamser was assisted by Miss Dixie Pharr in serving ice cream, cakes and fruit. Miss Mary Julia Reid presided at the large punch-bowl in the dining room. The two guests of honor were presented with friendship cards, upon which each lady had written her name. The number of guests present represented eight different states. All present wished the ladies a safe and pleasant visit to their former homes.

After a short visit with friends at Columbus and Canton, O., Mrs. Chas. F. Best of 614 Washington street, accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Reckner of Canton, left Canton, via auto, Monday morning for an extended visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lefloy Elliott of Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. R. C. Smith of 1230 Third street has returned from a visit with relatives at Dayton and Springfield, Ohio. At the latter place she attended the wedding of Miss Grace Weeder and Mr. Eldon Crissinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Elwell, who recently moved back to this city from Alliance, Ohio, will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Smith of 1230 Third street until they can find a suitable house.

Mrs. Bernard McNeer, will entertain the members of the Minerva Kensington Club, Wednesday afternoon at her home, 1917 Seventeenth street.

The Woman's Foreign, Missionary Society of the Franklin Avenue M. E. Church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church. The hostesses will be Mrs. Roy Weidtkon, Mrs. Sarah Bauer, Mrs. Carl Boelmer and Miss Arleigh Osborn.

The Ben Hurs will give one of their popular dances at their hall, Gallia and Chillicothe streets, Tuesday night, June 20th. All members and friends are invited to attend. The Golden State 8ix will furnish the music.

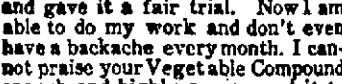

Mrs. William Harley will entertain members of the Eldest Club at her home on Robinson avenue, Tuesday afternoon.

MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK,

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a backache every month. I can't praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

"It is this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times."

Adventures Of The Twins

When Phil Frog heard Mr. Peearabout was lost he was amazed

W HEN Phil Frog heard Mr. Peearabout, the Man-in-the-Moon, was lost he was amazed.

"The very idea of us not knowing it!" he declared. "Why, last night the Moon looked so nice and round and shiny Faunle and I and the children all got out and sang a song of thankfulness. We were sure we saw Mr. Peearabout then."

Nancy shook her head. "No," she said. "You didn't see Mr. Peearabout. Old Comet-Locks, the fairy who is jealous of him, pushed him off the Moon. The Weatherman is running the Moon until Mr. Peearabout is found."

"Well, I declare!" croaked Phil. "I'll have to help, that's sure, for honestly I don't know what we'd do without a Moon."

"When there's a nice Moon we're not afraid of losing our lives. We can see when Comet-Locks is looking for us, and Marty Mink snoops along the bank on the lookout for a nice, fat pollywog."

Just then Polly Pollywog, who'd been listening, spoke up.

"What does the Moon-Man look like?" she asked. "Anything like frogs or pollywogs?"

"No," explained Nick. "He looks like us. He has a head and arms and legs and feet."

But Polly was too excited to listen. "I saw him hiding in the tall grass near the bank. He's got arms and legs and a head and he's all ragged too. I'll take you there."

So off they all started. "There he is," cried Polly. "Right there."

And what do you think? Nancy picked up Kitty Brown's rag doll. "No, Polyl," said she kindly. "This isn't the Moon-Man. He's lost yet. But you can keep on looking. I'm afraid when he fell he got his head bumped and lost his memory."

BOOK 1: THE ROBE CHAPTER I

He was born with a gift of laughter and a sense that the world was mad. And that was all his patrimony. His very paternity was obscure, although the village of Gavrilac had long since dispelled the cloud of mystery that hung about it. These simple Brittany folk were not so simple as to be deceived by a pretended relationship which did not even possess the virtue of originality. When a nobleman announces himself the god-father of an infant fetched no man knew whence, and thereafter cares for the lad's rearing and education, the most unsophisticated of country folk perfectly understand the situation. And so the good people of Gavrilac permitted themselves no illusions on the score of the real relationship between Andre-Louis Moreau—as the lad had been named—and Quintin de Keradion, Lord of Gavrilac.

Andre-Louis had made the most of his opportunities. You beheld him at the age of four-and-twenty stuffed with learning enough to produce an intellectual indigestion in an ordinary mind. In body he was a slight wisp of a fellow, scarcely above middle height, with a lean, ascetic countenance, prominent nose and cheekbones, and with black hair that reached almost to his shoulders. His mouth was long, thin, and humorous. He only just redeemed from ugliness by the splendor of a pair of over-arching, luminous eyes, so dark as to be almost black. Of the whimsical quality of his mind and his rare gift of graceful expression, his writings afforded us very ample evidence. Of his gift of oratory he had already achieved a certain fame for it in the Literary Chamber of Rennes—one of those clubs in which the intellectual youth of France foregathered to study and discuss the new philosophies that were permeating social life. But the fame he had acquired there was hardly enviable. He was too impish, too caustic, too much disposed—so thought his colleagues—to ridicule their subtleties theories for the regeneration of mankind. Himself he protested that he merely led them up to the mirror of truth, and that it was not his fault if when reflected there they looked ridiculous.

All that he achieved by this was to exasperate; and his expulsion from a society grown mistrustful of him must already have followed but for his friend, Philippe de Vilmorin, a divinity student of Rennes, who himself, was one of the most popular members of the Literary Chamber.

Coming to Gavrilac on a November morning, Philippe found in that sleepy Breton village matter to quicken his already lively indignation. A peasant, named Mabey, had been shot dead that morning by a gamekeeper of the Marquis de La Tour d'Azyr. The unfortunate fellow had been caught in the act of taking a pheasant from a snare, and the gamekeeper had acted under explicit orders from his master.

Inflamed by an act of tyranny so absolute and merciless, M. de Vilmorin proposed to lay the matter before M. de Keradion. Mabey was a vassal of Gavrilac, and Vilmorin hoped to move the Lord of Gavrilac to demand at least some measure of reparation for the widow and the three orphans which that brutal deed had made.

But because Andre-Louis was Philippe's dearest friend, the young seminarist sought him out in the first instance. He found him at breakfast and after embracing him, decried him with his denunciation of Mr. de La Tour d'Azyr.

"I have heard of it already," said Andre-Louis.

"You speak as if the thing had not surprised you," his friend reproached him. "I propose to go to your god-father, M. de Keradion. I shall appeal to him for justice."

"Against M. de La Tour d'Azyr?"

"I want you to come to M. de Keradion with me, and to use your influence to obtain justice. I suppose I am asking too much."

"I confess that I have not your big charity, my dear Philippe. I am touched by Mabey's fate. But, having conquered the shock of this news by my emotions, I do not forget that, after all, Mabey was thieving when he met his death."

her uncle Quintin of what was befitting seigneurial dignity. But though this only child of a third Keradion had exercised, ever since she was left an orphan at the early age of four, a tyrannical rule over the Lord of Gavrilac, who had been father and mother to her, she had never yet succeeded in beating down his stubbornness on that score.

She was walking on the terrace when Andre-Louis and M. de Vilmorin arrived. Her slight body was wrapped against the chill air in a white cloak; her head was encased in a close-fitting bonnet, edged with white fur.

Andre-Louis and M. de Vilmorin had been known to her from childhood. The three had been playmates once, and Andre-Louis—in view of his spiritual relationship with her uncle—she called her cousin.

She waved her hand to them.

"If you come to see monsieur my uncle, you come inopportunistly, messieurs," she told them, a certain feverishness in her air. "He is closely—oh, so very closely—engaged."

"We will wait, mademoiselle," said M. de Vilmorin, bowing gallantly over the hand she extended to him. "Indeed, who would haste to the uncle that may tarry a moment with the niece?"

"M. Philippe," she teased him, "when you are in orders I shall take you for my confessor. You have so ready and sympathetic an understanding."

"But no curiosity," said Andre-Louis. "You haven't thought of that?"

"I wonder what you mean, Cousin Andre."

"Well, you may," laughed Philippe. "For no one ever knows." His glance straggled across the terrace settled upon a carriage that was drawn up before the door of the chateau. The footman displayed the resplendent blue-and-gold liveries of the Marquis de La Tour d'Azyr.

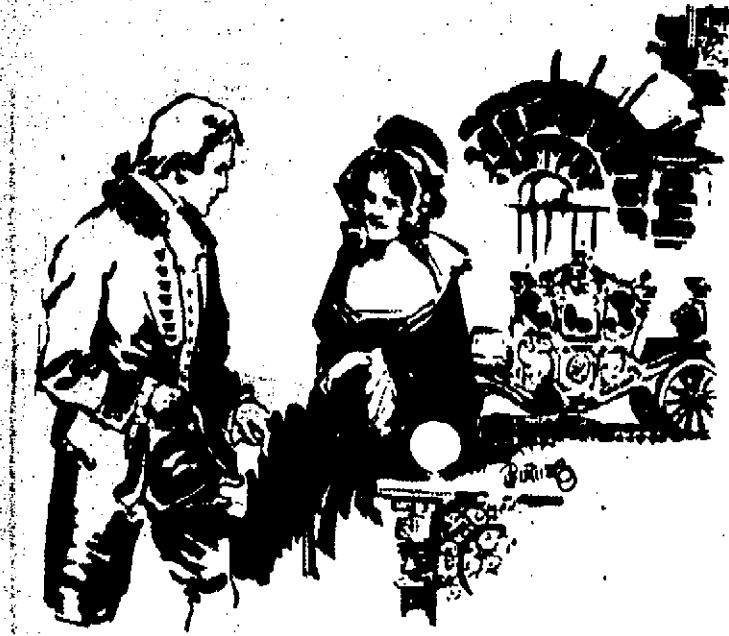

"Why?" he exclaimed. "Is it M. de La Tour d'Azyr who is with your uncle?"

"It is, monsieur," said she, a world of mystery in voice and eyes, of which M. de Vilmorin observed nothing.

He bowed low, but in hand and turned to depart towards the house.

Mademoiselle, after a moment's blank pause, laughed ripplingly. "Now where is he going in such a hurry?"

"To see M. de La Tour d'Azyr as well as your uncle, I should say."

"WHY?" HE EXCLAIMED. "IS IT M. DE LA TOUR D'AZYR WHO IS WITH YOUR UNCLE?"

"But he cannot. Did I not say that they are very closely engaged? You don't ask me why, Andre." "Since obviously you are all eager to tell, why should I ask?" quoth he.

"If you are caustic I shall not tell you even if you ask. Oh, yes, I will. I am the object of this visit." And she looked at him with sparkling eyes and lips parted in laughter.

"The rest, you would seem to imply, is obvious. But I am a dot, if you please: for it is not obvious to me."

"Why, stupid, he comes to ask my hand in marriage."

"Good God!" said Andre-Louis, and stared at her, chap-fallen.

LIMBS ACED, TIRED, DRAGGY

Oklahoma Lady Had Not Been Well For a Year, and Regrets She Did Not Take Cardui Sooner.

Hinton, Okla.—"I feel greatly improved since taking Cardui, and I only regret I did not commence sooner," writes Mrs. George Curry, of Route 3, this place. Mrs. Curry says she had not been well in over a year when she began taking Cardui.

"I have suffered a great deal with nervousness, and this seemed to come from womanly weakness," she explained.

"I had headache. I was very weak and tired across my back. My limbs ached, and I did not feel like doing anything."

"I had the tired draggy feeling and I suffered so."

"I would have bearing-down pains, first my hips and down each side."

"I suffered each month and would get so weak and worn out."

"Some told me of Cardui, and I began to use it. It did me a world of good. It took two bottles to make me know I was getting better, but by taking it regularly, I saw great improvement, and am now stronger."

"I owe my health to Cardui."

This well-known medicine, which Mrs. Curry mentions, is a mild, medicinal, purely vegetable tonic, used with success for more than forty years in the treatment of many simple womanly ailments. Thousands of women have written that they were benefited by taking Cardui.

LOCAL WOMAN MARRIES MAN SHE HAD NEVER SEEN; THE BRIDEGROOM SEIZED BY MOB; RESCUED BY POLICE

POMEROY, O., June 19.—Early yesterday morning a middle-aged stranger appeared on the streets here, and began walking a beat up and down the sidewalk in front of the court house. He seemed an average citizen and no particular attention was paid to him for an hour or so.

Finally it was noticed that he carried a silk handkerchief rather prominently displayed from the coat pocket over his heart and that he carried a placard in his hand. It was made from a box lid of pasteboard and on it was written in a bold hand the name of "John Young."

When approached he admitted that he was John Young, of Long Bottom, a fine village in the upper end of Meigs county, and that he was on matrimony bent. He talked, very freely about the matter. He said that the prospective bride was Anna Bird, and that she lived on Second street in Portsmouth. He went on further to say that about a month ago a friend had given him the name and address of the woman in the case, and that he had written her a letter. She responded promptly. Several letters passed back and forth. Then came a proposal of marriage from the Meigs county man. It was arranged that they should both come to Pomerooy on June 17th. After meeting each other for the first time if all seemed agreeable they were to marry and proceed to the groom's Long Bottom home where he owns a small farm and a house and lot in the village.

As a matter of identification Young said he was to display a handkerchief from his pocket and carry a piece of cardboard in his hand and display it at the approach of any woman who seemed to fill the bill of the prospective bride.

As the hours wore on and no woman appeared on the scene looking for him, Young became more or less restless and too talkative for his peace of mind later. He told one after another what he had in mind, and the ones told made it known to others until by mid-afternoon practically the whole town knew it.

By shortly afternoon he became so worried and flustered that he called up her home in Portsmouth by long distance telephone, and was assured that she had left for Pomerooy that morning. This gave him additional encouragement and he went about making preparations for the wedding. He engaged Justice Rapson Fish to perform the ceremony, and arrangements were made with Miss Faye Webster, the accommodating Probate court deputy, to come down and issue the marriage license in case such was wanted.

In consulting the railroad agents it was found that the woman could not possibly reach Pomerooy before 5 o'clock in the evening, having failed to appear on the noon trains. With these facts in mind Mr. Young contented himself as best he could until the time of the arrival of the B. and O. train at Mason City, W. Va.

He instructed Captain Irwin, of the ferryboat Champion to direct the woman to the court house, where he still waited. However, when the train whistled into Mason City he broke away from his beat and went down to the ferry landing. There he found the river bank lined with people curious to see the bride. The line on each side of the driveway extended clear down to the water's edge. Mr. Young was milling around in the crowd with handkerchief displayed and his placard in his hand. A large crowd got off the train when it landed and it so happened that the woman in the case was walking directly in the rear of a man and his wife and Young did not see her, nor did his display attract her attention. She walked up to the top of the levee carrying a heavy grip and was halfway up to the postoffice block on her way to the court house, when Mr. Young spied her and sprinted after her. When he reached her side he accosted her, she sat down her grip and looked at him, then he picked up the grip and they walked off together. The curious mob followed at their heels more than a hundred strong. The central figures in the case walked on rather leisurely toward the court house. At the foot of the steps they stopped, while the mob grouped about on various corners in full sight, but out of hearing. The two stood there and talked perhaps ten minutes, each one thawing out in the matter of smiles and gestures as the minutes went on. Finally he again picked up the grip and the two started down Court street. They went up into Dr. Shoemaker's dental office by previous arrangement where a telephone call was sent for Miss Webster. She had been expecting a call, but it was long in coming that she had changed her attire and gone into the garden to put out some plants. She had just gotten her hands fully soiled when the urgent telephone message came. Of course she had to dress for the wedding, and it was nearly 7 o'clock when she reached her office. The waiting couple, which had been spending the time getting acquainted with each other, were brought to the probate office. Because of the miner's strike the electric light were off, but Miss Webster had forestalled that obstacle by bringing an electrical contrivance with her which gave about as much light as a tallow candle.

By the time the high contracting parties reached there the room was crowded with spectators and the corridors jammed. When called upon Mr. Young gave his name and age as 38 years on the 20th of last March. He stated that he was a widower, and that he has one small son. His first wife was a Hannum, and died some time ago in the O. H. E. at Gallipolis, last April. She said that she was born in Portsmouth, her father being Frank Glen and her mother's maiden name Lizzie Holsinger. For the past year until recently she claimed to have been working in Middleport, having come to Portsmouth but recently. This declaration gave her a Meigs county residence and made it possible for her to get a marriage license here. When Young gave the name of his prospective bride as Bird, he must have been spoofing, or the woman had been corresponding with him under an assumed name.

When the license was issued it was handed to Justice Fish, who stood by in waiting, and he asked the couple to stand up and join right hands. The did so and at that instant a terrific rain and thunderstorm broke. The ceremony was neatly performed with the rain pouring in torrents and in a totally dark room, except for the spark of light from the little electrical contrivance resting on the marriage license book. After the ceremony the couple went back to Dr. Shoemaker's office, where a mob of more than a thousand gathered to bell. They had horns and drums, bells and all sorts of noise-making instruments. The more noise the larger the crowd grew until the streets for two squares were blocked. For a long time the groom refused to treat and finally four stalwart roughnecks picked the groom up bodily and carried him downstairs with the threat of throwing him into the river. Still he refused to be bulldozed into giving up his money to a mob and he was carried to the brink of the bank. There he was dropped and he ran back to the other side of the street and back up against the brick wall of Ashworth's jewelry store and stood off the crowd, which now demanded ten dollars.

At this point the police got on the scene and with the help of Mayor Savage and a couple dozen lev-headed citizens dispersed the crowd, which was more of a mob than anything else. They probably did not intend to hurt the groom, who had the grit to defend himself, but they were entirely too rough.

After the people had dispersed to some extent many of the residents of the good old town of Pomerooy went up and assured the agitated couple that such doings were not approved by a majority of the people of the town. In due time they found a place to lodge for the night and on Sunday morning went by train to the groom's home at Long Bottom, some forty miles up the river.

FUTURIST ATHLETIC UNION SUITS SPECIAL AT $1.00

Futurist is just what so many women have been looking for—a dainty, cool, comfortable, summer change from knitted underwear—how often have they envied the men their delight in getting into their "athletic" underwear when the warmer days come. Now, when they slip into a suit of futurist, they, too, can experience the real comfort that until only lately the men have had.

Futurist should not be confused with ordinary women's athletic underwear. It is really quite different. Made only of dainty, sheer, soft materials, it has been fashioned from the very start with the feminine figure solely in mind.

You can well afford to buy several suits at this low price offering. Sizes 34 to 44.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 19.—The week in the stock market began with a resumption of the recent irregular movement. Notice served on the railroad labor board by the unions of their intention to call a strike invited further short selling. Market letters issued by prominent commission houses advising caution also added to the selling movement. Mexican Petroleum was the conspicuous feature, opening at a gain of 1 1/4 points, reacting one point and then rallying 1 1/2 points. Pan-American Petroleum also strengthened, but the general list soon yielded to pressure. Losses of large fractions to one point were made by Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Studebaker, Anaconda, Baldwin Locomotive and U. S. Steel. Foreign exchanges displayed increased weakness, especially British, French and Dutch rates.

Trading settled down to nominal proportions during the morning, but the drive against shorts in Mexican Petroleum became more effective. That stock, leading at a premium, extended its early gain to 7 1/2 points. Pan-American A and B shares rose 2 to 2 1/2 points and General Asphalt Standard Oil of California, California Petroleum and Pacific Oil were strong. Gulf States Steel made an extreme rise of 3 1/2 points, but others of that group were heavy with railroads, shipbuilding and equipments. Atlas Powder stood out among the minor specialties on a six point rise and gains of 1 to 3 points were made by tobacco, leather and some of the copper. Call money opened at 3 per cent.

The further remarkable advance of Mexican Petroleum was the dominant development of today's stock market. Other falls and some of the industrials and specialties also strengthened, but rails reflected latest labor conditions. Sales approximated 750,000 shares.

The closing was firm.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, June 19.—General selling induced by cooler weather and by rains which needed in the domestic winter crop held did a good deal to carry wheat prices downward today during the early dealings. Expected liberal arrivals of new wheat this week at primary centers tended further to depress values. Besides a fall in sterling exchange was also given attention as a bearish factor. Opening quotations, which varied from 3/4 to 1 1/4 lower, July 1.10 1/2 to 1.11 and September 1.12 1/2, were followed by a material setback all around.

The close was heavy 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower with July 1.10 to 1.10 1/2 and September 1.10 1/2 to 1.10 3/4.
Corn and oats descended with wheat. After opening unchanged to 1/2 to 3/4 off, with July 61 1/2 to 61 3/4, the corn market continued to fall. Oats started 3/4 to 1/2 off, later underwent an additional sag.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

The market closed steady, 1/4 to 1/2 net lower with July 61 1/2.

Money

—Must pour in mighty briskly at the bung hole if there is a steady stream at the spigot.

It is the aim of every thrifty man to increase the inflow at the bung hole and to decrease the outflow at the spigot; the practice of which eventually insures his happiness and financial success.

Sometimes it is a tough job for some people to make the money pour in rapidly. These people have to fill the old money barrel by preventing the money from pouring out rapidly.

One way to check the outgoing is to read the advertisements in the daily papers. The great value of advertising to those who read it, cannot be denied. VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL OPENS

The Daily Vacation Bible School at Trinity church opened this morning with a large attendance of boys and girls from Trinity, Second Presbyterian and First Christian Sabbath schools. The opening period was a big success with Rev. Wm. C. Millikan and Rev. Gerald Culbertson in charge of the devotionals, while Rev. H. L. Evans told a story. Attendance and interest point toward a successful term of four weeks, sessions to be held every morning starting at 8:30 o'clock.

The teachers in charge are Miss Ruth Patton, principal, Mrs. Wesley Bennett, Miss Ollie Morgan, Miss Eva Morgan, Miss Helen Dupre and W. W. Young.

Death Claims N. P. Whitaker

WHEELING, W. VA., June 19.—N. Price Whitaker, former steel manufacturer and until recently a member of the state road commission and the capital commission, died here Saturday.

Death was due to an ulcer of the stomach which has caused Whitaker's ill health for some time. He was operated on in a local hospital Wednesday.

Mr. Whitaker was well known as one of the greatest business executives of the state. He was appointed to the capital commission and the state road commission by Governor Morgan.

He resigned from the commissions two weeks ago on account of declining health.

Mr. Whitaker was formerly vice president of the Whitaker-Glossner Company and later taking the office of road commission he became a director in the Wheeling Steel Corporation.

THEY say Eddie Plank is Dave Danforth's model of all a baseball pitcher ought to be.

This isn't strange. Dave, about five years ago, after Dave Danforth found wanting, Eddie took him in hand. He gave much good advice to the youngster, and a great deal of it still sticks with him. He pitches with Eddie's old form and has many of his tricks.

"I think told me," Dave says, "that a pitcher's biggest asset is control, and I've practiced it faithfully. Another of his tips was to 'keep the batter nervous.' That's why I'm glad of all these stories that I use a shiner. If the batter comes to the plate full of the idea that the pitcher has something that's a fooler he's

MORVICH ON WAY TO LATONIA; WILL ATTEMPT TO STAGE COMEBACK IN $50,000 RACE SATURDAY

Whiskaway And Pillory Are Also Entered In Speed Event

NEW YORK, June 19.—Morvich, no longer the unbeaten, was expected to leave today in his special car for Latonia Ky. There, he is expected to race on Saturday against the cream of three-year-old thoroughbreds. He will seek to regain the prestige he lost when he was beaten badly by Harry P. Whitney's Whiskaway in the Carlton stakes at Aqueduct, Saturday.

Whiskaway, with an advantage of 35 pounds over Morvich in the weights, never was threatened after taking the lead after the start and was pulled up with a margin of eight lengths in the final time of 1:36.3 for the mile. Snob II, J. S. Craden's French bred colt, a poor third, pulled up lame and was found to have a split front foot, which will prevent him from competing at Latonia. He will not run for some time. The explanation of Morvich's defeat on his thirteenth start is given in one word—speed. Whiskaway was too fast for him. The handicap in weights undoubtedly had its effect on the showing of the Black colt, but it would have taken more than a super horse to match the pace Whiskaway set from the barrier to the finish. Clocking in 45 seconds at the half mile, the Whiskaway colt was more than a second faster than the American record for this distance 46.1 seconds and 1.35.3, set by Audacious.

Morvich after getting off to a poor start tumbled and for a time kept with the striking distance of the flying Whiskaway, but never closed the gap. In the final sprint his rival drew rapidly away.

Whiskaway, as well as Pillory, winner of the rich Breckness and Belmont stakes, is expected to enter the Latonia special this week and at even weights with Morvich.

Waverly Defeats McArthur Nine

Waverly, O., June 19.—Before the largest crowd of the season the Waverly Pirates Sunday defeated the strong McArthur team by the score of 5 to 3. McArthur took the lead in the scoring by putting a rally over in the second and two in the third. Waverly scored in the third and seventh innings. Scott, first up, hit into right, McLaughlin was safe on an error, then Allen drove a home run into deep left center, scoring Scott and McLaughlin. The Pirates scored their other two runs in the seventh on three hits and two sacrifices. The hitting of Allen, who drove out a home run, two doubles and a single out of four times up and the superb pitching of "Rube" Scott were the features of the game. The box score:

McDERMOTT BEATS GILBERT TEAM

The McDermott crew continued on its winning stride Sunday when the diamond representatives of the stone masons defeated the Gilbert team by the score of 5 to 3 in a fast game played at McDermott. The home team got away in front in the second when three masons' offerings for three markers and were never headed. Ballengee's effective pitching held the invaders in check outside of the fifth and sixth when they counted their only runs. The McDermott hurler allowed but five hits and he was given glib support by his companions both in the field and at bat. The score:

SCIOTOVILLE DEFEATS LUCASVILLE

The Sciotoville nine triumphed over the Lucasville squad in a tight and exciting struggle staged at Lucasville Sunday afternoon. The invaders coped the big end of a 7 to 0 count mainly through their ability to launch their hits off Rending, the Sciotoville gang coming through with a rally in the last session which netted two runs and the game. "Buster" Smith was hit freely, but was effective in the pinches. He was asked for a flock of hits, including four triples. The hitting of Bratten for the winners was a feature of the affair.

Browns Win; Williams Gets Homer

NEW YORK, June 19.—Led by their slugging ace, George Sisler and Ken Williams, the St. Louis Browns have, for the moment at least, shaken themselves free of the field in the American league. They beat Ed Rommel, pitching star of the Athletics, and as the Yankees dropped their seventh straight loss to Cleveland, they now lead by a game and a half.

Williams clouted out his seventh home run, besides a triple, and Sisler registered a double and a homer.

Waite Hoyt lasted less than an inning against the slugging Indians and as the bats of Babe Ruth and his mates were silenced by Coveleskie, Speaker's men took the first game from the New Yorkers, 9 to 3. The veteran Tris led the onslaught with a brace of doubles and a single.

New Boston Defeats Russell

The New Boston Red Sox are setting a fast pace these days. Sunday they went to Russell and handed the team there a 5 to 4 defeat. The Red Sox hit Baker hard in the first frame and put across four runs. A pass, at hit batsman and five hits put across the four rallies. Arts and Mowery divided the hitting honors by getting three safe singles. Chinn was the hard hitter for the Russell nine. Schwamberger pitched a fine brand of ball keeping the hits well scattered through nine frames. Russell will come to Millbrook in a few weeks for another game with the New Boston Red Sox. Jack Dempsey Prefers White Meat

BY BOB DORMAN
NEW YORK, June 19.—Whether it's chickens or prize fighters, Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey prefers the tender, white meat.

In Chicago he gravely announced that "he would defend his title against Bill Brennan on Labor Day."

Just how much defending does that title need against the stocky William?

Dempsey has twice knocked Brennan for the full count.

And what other fights has the champion in mind?

Jess Willard, over 40, and out of the ring for three years, and Georges Carpentier, the victim of a year ago. None of these matches should draw a crowd's gaze, yet the power of the heavyweight is great, and they may draw a gate sufficiently large to satisfy all concerned.

The Kerns-Dempsey Duel
Many of those present at Toledo in July, 1919, will remember the duel sang by Kerns and Dempsey before they won the title, that if Jack became the world's champion it was his ambition to be a real fighter like John L. Sullivan, meeting any and all comers whenever the public demanded.

How has Dempsey kept that promise in the three years that have elapsed?

He took on Billy Miske, just out of a hospital, broke and willing to fight for the loser's end.

A bigger farce was never seen in the ring than that fight.

Bill Brennan, who had already been knocked out in four rounds by Dempsey before he became champion, furnished the next opponent.

As the Carpentier fight was in the spring it would not do to take Brennan too quickly so he was permitted to stick around for 12 rounds.

Then Came
Then came the Carpentier match. Few who knew anything at all about the two men believed that the Frenchman had a chance, but the heavyweights, conceding the best chance of standing off the hard-hitting Dempsey and furnishing a real fight, were allowed to drop into oblivion.

Because our champion prefers the tender, white meat!

Opens in England
SANDWICH, England, June 19.—(A. P.)—Qualifying play in the British open championship golf tournament today under ideal weather conditions.

A gentle west wind swept the two courses—the Prince's and Royal St. George's—and the turf was in excellent condition, having benefited from recent rains.

More than 200 competitors hoped to qualify in this, the greatest golfing event of the year. The eighty turning in the lowest cards for today's and tomorrow's medal play will be eligible for the match on Thursday and Friday.

There is much fur, of the lighter weight variety, used on the summer suits of silk. Often this is used on the bottom of the coat as well as on the collars and cuffs. Platinum gray fox is very popular. So is monkey fur.

UNCLE SAM BOOTLEGGER

SOMETIMES an action isn't important in itself, seemingly, but becomes of consequence on account of the uproar made over it.

It seems that way, at least, in the matter of sale of intoxicating liquors, sold on merchant vessels operated by the government. It was a widely known fact that Uncle Sam had turned bootlegger and was violating the prohibition amendment, but the fact attracted no criticism until a member of congress arose in his seat and inveighed against it. Then a veritable storm broke loose and all ears, not even excepting those of the President himself are listening anxiously to its mighty sweep.

The only one with courage to breast it is Chairman Lasker, of the shipping board. He declares bars were opened with the knowledge of the President and with his consent to go ahead and they will be kept open, because it isn't possible to run the ships profitably without them. Foreign vessels all sell liquors and unless American ships do the same no passengers will patronize them and heavy loss will ensue.

Possibly, what Chairman Lasker claims is true, bars may be necessary to attract gainful traffic, but their operation presents a sorry spectacle—the government doing a business for which it fines and even sends its own citizens to jail for doing.

This too despite the truth that United States laws are not vital beyond three miles at sea. The constitution and the statute designate the selling of intoxicants as a crime, not of place, but because of the ill effect that is supposed to ensue. Wherever its flag flies there is the government in spirit and in reality. Wherever it nullifies its own rules and enactments it teaches its citizens that it is oppressive and hypocritical in enforcement against them.

LET'S HEAR FROM HIM

THE name of "Put" Sandles is recorded on the list of would-be Democratic aspirants for the gubernatorial nomination.

Objection was made and motion made to remove it because the declaratory statement was not made by the indefatigable Put himself, and the objection has been sustained.

It seems that this perennial candidate was in Canada at the time the candidacy was filed and the declaration was signed for Put by a super zealous friend. That absolves Put himself from immediate conviction and he should be given the benefit of the doubt. Perhaps, he will repudiate the action of his lone supporter. It is to be feared not, however. For rather it is to be feared Put will take the very act as evidence of his rapid and tremendous growth in popularity. He has been a candidate for governor, times without number, and there was never anybody for him before, except himself.

THE BONUS IN THE SENATE

IT is evident that the soldiers' bonus bill which was favorably reported to the senate by the finance committee is not to be dependent entirely upon Republican votes for its passage. Two Democratic senators, Williams of Mississippi and Underwood of Alabama, tried during the day to prevent it from being placed on the senate calendar, but another Democrat, Ashurst of Arizona, denounced them for their obstructionism, pointing out that the war profiteers had all been paid their claims against the government and that it was high time the just claims of the nation's defenders should be recognized.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, finance committee chairman, estimates that the total cost of the bonus which the bill provides will be $3,845,659,451. President Harding has been repeatedly quoted by his confidential friends as declaring he will veto a bonus bill unless congress provides means of payment. A sales tax is favored by the president to furnish the necessary revenues. If it is found that a sales tax cannot yet muster sufficient votes in congress, the $11,000,000,000 owed to the United States government from the allied nations of Europe can be fallen back upon.

Senator McCumber insists that more than enough can be collected from the foreign governments to meet the requirements of his bill without additional taxation. That is the popular belief, also. Passage of the bill, in either the senate or the house form, at an early date is the desire of the country.

FINE CROP OUTLOOK

PROSPECTS at present are for plenty of bread for the eater and seed for the sower, as the result of the crops of the present year, harvesting of which is beginning in the Southwest. Travelers who have recently been over the great grain states speak enthusiastically of the extensive fields of wheat, with their promise of abundant harvests.

These unofficial statements are supported by the carefully collected figures of the department of agriculture, which show a decided improvement in the crop prospect in the last month. The forecast increasing as much as 22,000,000 bushels of winter wheat since the May report appeared, due to exceptionally favorable weather. There will not be a bumper crop of wheat, but there will be more than could have been reasonably expected, in view of the smaller acreage planted to wheat last autumn. The present expectation is for a crop of 607,000,000 bushels, which will be the fourth largest ever grown. The spring wheat area is 1,000,000 acres less than last year, but production is forecast at 247,000,000 bushels or 49,000,000 bushels more than the 1921 crop. Combined winter and spring wheat crops indicate an increase of 60,000,000 bushels over last year.

Forecasts of production of other crops were: Oats 1,305,000,000 bushels; barley, 191,000,000; rye, 81,000,000; hay, 106,000,000; apples, 180,000,000; peaches, 54,000,000. The reported condition of barley and rye is much better than normal, so that the yield of supplementary grains is certain to be very satisfactory.

THE BIBLE IN PICTURES AND TEXT

By HELEN E. OHRENSCHALL

THE DEATH OF MOSES

THE Lord told Moses that the day approached that he must die and to go up into the mountain of Nebo on the top of Pisgah and behold the land that He had given the children of Israel. And Moses, the servant of the Lord, died there in the land of Moab and the children of Israel mourned.

Joshua was full of the spirit of wisdom for Moses had laid his hand upon him and the people harkened unto him.

There has not been a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses whom the Lord knew face to face.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 19—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up early and with my wife to a half-way house and there drank a beaker of cold milk and a nighty one walk, too. This day I dined my new straw hat-piece and even the clerks suggested at my droll appearance.

Thence to the river to hear a boat full of Italians sing very sweet. Walking to the Dutch Treat for luncheon, I heard Sinclair Lewis talk, but not in his usual good form. Saw, too, K. Kitchin, the scrivener, back from Hollywood and declares it a dull, stupid place, with which I agree.

Dressed about my chambers and came E. Hughes, the Detroit editor, and I promised to write a piece for him and we discussed Ring Lardner, who I believe is the finest humorist of our day yet. R. Long does say he has written some sentimental prose that stirs the heart.

In the evening with my wife, poor wretch, to the opening of the Folies and spoke to Victor Herbert. Dave Stamper, Paul Whitman, Vyvyan Donner, Marshall Nohrn, David Belasco and others, but the majority, being of society, I did not know. At 2:30 in the morning to Jack's, where I ate a large plate of Irish bacon and eggs and slept till all the night long.

The radio as a restaurant attraction has kidded to oblivion. Proprietors say patrons prefer to do their own talking. Others who tried them out have gone back to a flicker service and are offering their customers the old reliable, thrill of the tube. One of the latest is set up in the shop of a Fifth Avenue confectioner, a place of the gilt chair and tiny tea cake type.

The green lights in front of the district police stations are soon to go. They will be supplanted by yellow white lights. For years the green light has struck woe in the heart of the patrol wagon riders. When they saw them they knew the next step was the lonely cell. The New York district police station at best is a place to chill the heart. There is an atmosphere as cold as the flagstone floor. The lieutenant in charge appear to have been selected for their roughness of manner and lack of sympathy. They make no presumption of innocence. Every man who comes in led by a policeman is guilty, even though his

WELL I'M SOLD AT LAST. MARKED DOWN TO A DOLLAR TOO. I USED TO HAVE A TWO DOLLAR TAG ON ME BUT NOBODY BOOK ME. A LOT OF MY BROTHERS WERE SOLD. I'M A CHEAP THING.

AND I'ADORN A CHEAP LIVING HEAD. WELL I ALMOST GOT AWAY FROM THE SAPHIRE THAT OWNED ME. I ROLLED MYSELF IN THE PUTTER ON GUTTER TO GET HIM SORE.

HE SENDS ME TO THE CLEANERS WHERE I AM PUT THROUGH AN AWFUL LOT OF SMELLY STUFF AND WHIRLED AROUND LIKE EVER THING. I WISH I HADN'T GOT SO DIRTY.

I AM HAVING A LOT OF FUN VISITING ABOUT WITH OTHER HATS. MY MASTER GAVE THE GIRL WHO TAKES CARE OF US TEN CENTS. SHE'S A NICE KID.

HERE I AM IN ANOTHER CAFE CHECK ROOM AND THE BOSS IS HAVING TO COUGH UP AGAIN TO GET ME BACK. GOSH HE HAS PAID OUT A LOT OF DOUGH FOR MY UPKEEP AND HE'S GETTING MAD ABOUT IT.

HELLO! HERE'S A PRETTY STATE OF AFFAIRS. I'M ON THE WRONG NUT—MY BOSS GOT SOMEBODY ELSE'S HAT AND THIS GUY HAS TO TAKE ME AND GEE BUT HE'S SORE.

HE SAYS I AM A CHEAP STUFF AND TOO BIG FOR HIM ANYWAY. SO HE HANGS ME UP AND I COLLECT A LOT OF DUST AND COBWEBS.

AND NOW I AM GIVEN TO THE JANITOR. HE SAYS "SURE I'LL WEAR IT—I DON'T CARE HOW I LOOK."

Had Nothing But Sense
 Among the guests at a reception was a distinguished man of letters. He was grave and somewhat taciturn.

One of the ladies present suggested to the hostess that he seemed to be out of place at such a party.

"Yes," replied the hostess, with a bright smile, "you see, he can't talk anything but sense!"

A Household Need
 Salesman—Individual alarm clocks? Never heard of them. What are they like?

Shopper—I never saw one myself, but I thought maybe I could get one tuned so it would wake my husband without disturbing me.—From Judge.

There Are Others
 Harold—And won't you give me a kiss?

Helen—Certainly not. I never kissed a man in my life.

Harold—Well, neither have I.

Necessary
 Willie Willis: "Pop, can a man be an optimist part of the time and a pessimist part of the time?"

Mr. Willis: "Every man is, Willie. He is a pessimist to his wife and an optimist to his creditors."

Why Worry?
 Woman: "Waiter, are these real clumps?"

Waiter: "Don't you know the difference?"

Woman: "No."

Waiter: "Then, why worry?"

The real reason that a man swears at a dull razor is that the thing loses its temper first.

The Wedding Pudding
 Boarding house. Guest: "Say, old man, I wouldn't risk the rice pudding—there was a wedding next door yesterday!"

His View
 "The producers spent a million on that feature film and lost money."

"Well, I spent a quarter on it and got stung."—from Judge.

Distributor
 "Why do you call him scatter-brained?"

"Because he gives every one a piece of his mind."—Wayside Tales.

Sad But True
 Artist (at the ballet): "Ah! Did you ever see such poetry of motion?"

Poet (sally): "No, but yesterday I saw the motion of poetry, when the editor threw my contributions in the waste basket."—Houston Post.

June—June—
 Soft winds croon,
 Days are bright and glowing.
 Low—low—
 Flowers blow
 Too sweet for any knowing.

June—June—
 Birds in tune
 Fill the air with singing.
 High—high—
 Clouds drift by.
 The gentle showers bringing.

You are careful to arrive at a luncheon, dinner or tea at the time indicated by your hostess.

Nothing is more irritating than to be obliged to wait for the late guest while the food in the kitchen is all ready to serve.

If you find yourself unavoidably detained always notify your hostess and explain.
